

Sinclair Broadcasting is deciding to use the public airwaves to air a blatantly political program. Its capacity to do this shows the danger of oversized media: it can usurp the space for public discourse in favor of a candidate who may serve not people, citizens, or the quality of life but an economic entity.

Please consider the need for a free and vigilant that serves neither corporations nor government but the people.